Biographical Note

K. Raeburn Miller was born to Kleber C. Miller and Peggy Dubose Miller on October 20, 1934, in Austin, Texas. He received a Bachelor of Arts degree, with highest honors, from the University of Texas at Austin in 1956, a Master of Arts degree from the University of Iowa in 1958, and a Master of Fine Arts degree from the University of Iowa in 1960. In 1960 he joined the Department of English at Louisiana State University in New Orleans (now the University of New Orleans). Miller served as acting chairman of that department in 1975 and 1978-1979, and as chairman of the department in 1979-1982. He also served the University of New Orleans as associate dean of the Graduate School, 1984-1990. He was the author of two collections of poems, The Comma After Love (University of Akron Press, published posthumously in 1994) and Millenary (New Orleans Poetry Journal Press, 1986), and of individual poems published widely in various journals. Miller died in New Orleans on September 6, 1990, of a stroke. He was buried in Austin, Texas.
